NEW YORK-You may have been taught it is uncouth to say "am't." But it am't.

"Ain't" has finally gained official acceptance as a word that can be used in even the most genteel conversations.

If you don't believe it, just look it up in the dictionary—the forthcoming "Webster's Third New International Dictionary."

The controversial term is one of 100,000 new words and meanings which appear in the updated 2,720-page dictionary, the first publication in 27 years of a completely new Merriam-Webster quabridged dictionary. It will be published Sept. 28 by G. & C. Merriam Co.

LONDON—Three British Army soldiers, all aged 20, today advertised a "bargain" special to women shoppers, themselves in marriage. The price: $120 to $700, enough to buy themselves out of the army.

No age limit for the women was specified.

The three are "unhappy" with army life. Two of them.

L. Cpl. Edward Hargreaves and Sgmn. Johnny Dundee, wrote to the Daily Sketch which published their letter on the front bage. It said their wish was for "some women to buy us out of the army." The letter added:

"We have nothing but ourselves to offer in return. We are 20 and extremely unhappy."

LONDON—The owner of a car-hire company revealed Wednesday he's reaping good profits by renting out Princess Margaret's former limousine.

"I bought the car two years ago," said Wing Cmdr. Patrick Barthropp, "It's been worth every penny I paid for it — and more."

Among those who have hired it are Elizabeth Taylor, Rex Harrison, Gregory Peck and Gina Lolobrigida.
Barthropp bought the 1957 Rolls Royce for £6,050 ($16,946) and rents it out at a basic rate of £11 ($31.50) a day.

It has a television set, two radios and a cocktail bar.

LONDON - Clothes designer Mary Quant, conturier to London's Chelsea set; litted the curtain Wednesday on her collection of weirdly elegance for the 196162 season. Chelsea, once the home of Bohemian artists, writers and poets is now better known as the playground of the Chelsea set—young men—and-women, about lown with a strong sprinkling of beatniks.

FORD NEXT FOR UAW AS GM PACT NEAR

DETROIT (AP) - Walter P. Reuther will go calling on the Ford Motor Company as soon as he settles on the details of the United Auto Workers' agreement with General Motors.

"Ford is the next door I will knock on," the UAW president said Wednesday after recessing his talks with GM until today.

Reuther indicated he is confident of making a final settlement with GM that will set the pattern for Ford and Chrysler. He said there is no pressure now in the GM negotiations because "there is general agreement in all important areas" of a national economic settlement on wages and extra

ALDERMAN FINDS LOOPHOLE IN ACT

Civic elections can be rigged in any B.C. muni-cipality unless the Municipal Act is changed, Ald. Michael Griffin said Wednesday.

The articulate freshman councillor said he will try to put a corrective resolution before the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention later this

Under the present act, he said, 1,000 persons in or outside Victoria, for instance, could put up each for a fund to buy some city property and could be registered as owners and given a vote at civic elections.

"One thousand votes could swing almost any city election," he said. "They would each vote on the same level as a man who might own $1,000,000 worth of property.

"This is a very dangerous oversight in the Municipal Act and it should be corrected."

Ald. Griffin said his resolution would limit ballots to one vote for every property and in cases involving money bylaws there should be one vote for each $100,000 assessment or part thereof.

The Bulging School Again

WHEN SCHOOLS OPENED this week, with one or two exceptions classrooms in Greater Victoria were crammed, The crowding had been expected.

It served, nevertheless, to underscore the vital point the school board has been making since it began its continuing construction program early in the postwar years. The point is that this community, spending heavily as it has on new school building, has barely been able to keep pace with the growing student population.

This means that by October 21, when they will be asked to vote on another referendum, the propertyowners in the Greater Victoria School District face more expendi-The same applies in adjacent

When the issue is put to the people, the school board will probably be asking for something unde $5 million to provide about 100 classrooms and more school propto accommodate additional children due in school from 1962 to

This expenditure comes on the top of roughly $13 millions spent on schools in the district in the last 13

Even with the projected building completed in the next three to three-and-one-half years, Greater Victoria School District will have virtually no leeway. The accommodation will be taken up by the swelling school population, according to enrolment projections made by experts for the board.

The new building proposed in the October bylaw will consist mainly of additions to existing schools. The money is needed also to buy more property to extend schoolyards and to provide sites for more schools that will be required after 1965.

Generally speaking immediate construction is essential to look after Grade 7 pupils returned to elementary school under terms of Chant commission proposals en-dorsed by the legislature. Very briefly, there may be some elbowroom in junior, high schools from which the Grade 7 students are removed. Within three years, that leeway will be eliminated as the junior high populations as junior high population expands.

The report on crowded class-rooms throughout the system leaves no doubt about the need for addi-tional space. If Greater Victoria is to give students the educational facilities to which they are entitled, construction is inevitable.

There are, and there should be, taxpayers who will want to know that they are getting 100 cents on the dollar for their investment in the new accommodation. It is their duty to familiarize themselves with the various projects and to satisfy THE political meaning of the Soviet decision to resume nuclear testing the various projects and to satisfy themselves that they are receiving solid value for their tax money.

There is no room, however, for the argument that school expansion is unnecessary. The children need and deserve adequate quarters in which to receive their lessons.

And when the second in the same and the various projects in this sombre piece of news which was so the same and the various projects in this sombre piece of news which was so the same and the various projects in the various projects and to satisfy it decision to resume nuclear testing is quite remarkably ugly. and deserve adequate quarters in which to receive their lessons.

And when it comes to construction, the taxpayers may find some satisfaction in learning that construction costs for schools on a square foot basis are lower in this community than they are for the average modern home.

Uncommitted and Unconsulted

INDIA'S PRIME MINISTER Nehru and Ghana's President Nkrumah are in Moscow as peace emissaries. They arrived a few days after Mr. Khrushchev had announced a resumption of nuclear bomb tests, and a few hours after three such tests had been carried out. The two leaders journeyed directly from a Belgrade meeting of 25 so-called neutral nations which had unanimously passed an emergency appeal to Russia and the United States to "suspend their recent war preparations." It is difficult to say what Mr.

Nehru hopes to accomplish in Moscow: In most of the critical international events of the past few years his main strength has lain in the concern of both East and West not to offend the uncommitted nations, of which Indian was by far the largest and most influential. Russia has apparently abandoned any policy of worrying what the uncommitted nations think; its abrupt resumption of nuclear tests with all that this implies in war preparation and radiation hazard to all nuclear tests. tries might feel about it.

The value of what is called world opinion is highly arguable. Words Not Action

Few democratic politicians of recent times can possibly match the record of our present Prime Minister for discrepancies between talk and action. If only a small percentage of his grand designa and utterances were ever actualized we would be doing quite well as a nation. The latest piece of magnificent spe-

What is surprising is that Mr. Diefenbaker can be tocsin-pealing for the new creed while at the same time refusing to stand up and be counted on such a significant vote as the reconst General Assembly resolution on Bizerte.
That particular UN resolution went 66 to 0 against France, with certain na-tions abstaining. Quite clearly, the de Gaulle aggression in Tunisia left a bad taste in the mouths of the vast majority of mankind

REPORTING

OTTAWA — When Parliament adjourned in mid-July, the country appeared as much on the verge of an election as the world now appears on the verge of war.

The seven-week break in the parliamentary session constituted a cooling off period for political passions, and the development of the Berlin-bomb test crisis in East-West relations has pushed election thoughts further into the background. It would be most improvident for the prime minister to dissolve Parliament for a November election, and leave the country with only a caretaker and leave the country with only a caretaker government pending the outcome of two months of partisan political turmoil, at a time when events over which Canada has little control could precipitate a third world war.

Such weighty reason for not holding an election this fall will save Prime Minister election this fall will save Prime Minister Diefenbaker some embarrassment. He was trying to intimidate the Liberal senators with his threat of an election on the issue of Senate reform if they persisted in amending his "class or kind" twiff bill. When they refused to be intravisted, and added insult to injury in rejecting the government's "fire Goyne" bill, it was Diefenbaker who backed down.

The Berlin crisis was developing even fleen, and the PM can now respond to the twitting of his foes by declaring that his was the course of responsible statesmaniship. In the increasing gravity of the world situation, he can say only the Liberals wanted to plunge the country into an election with all its disruptions. This, of course, here the fact that the street procession. The Berlin crisis was developing even begs the fact that the agent provocateur of the election fever was John Diefenbaker.

As the parliamentary session resumes, the emphasis is less on dealing with the substantial tag ends of business that were sto over when the two Houses took summer recess, as on facing the suddenly more pressing problems of foreign and defence policy.

After 'having permitted only the briefest of debate on foreign policy during the course of making important foreign policy pronouncements in a speech at Winnipeg

In this speech the PM struck the keynote for the Commons: "Retreat in Berlin would mean that the pledged word of the Hans Ouist West (would be called in question everywhere . . . (so) . . . the freedom of the people of West Berlin is not negotiable."

But, he added, "the West must

But, he added, "the West must guard against the peril and danger of too much rigidity and in needlessly taking up dangerous and perhaps impossible positions when what is at stake may be the survival of mankind."

The debate will be important. It should be statesmanlike, not partisan. Similarly with the debate on the government's request for perhaps $100 millions more for defence. He entered the office as if the floor was covered with tacks and he was barefoot.
"You're shoes too short?" he was asked.

He shook his head. "Blisters. Three of them.

Blisters are bothersome. They are also the least of Patrick's worries.

Latecomers are advised that John Patrick, 32, five-feet eight and three quarter inches, 150 pounds, is a football man. So what? you might say, B.C. is saturated with them.

Vancouver alone has 20,000 assorted nuts who feel the price of admission entitles them to tell coach Wayne Robinson how to run the Lions.

Patrick is more than that. He is first string quarters have manager cach equipment manager, program super-opposition.

"I wore light game shoes," Patrick explained, shifting his feet to ease the blisters. "The field was hard and some of us had to play the whole game. Not good for the feet."

Not too good for the morale was the 21-7 defusing Drakes took from Royals. Patrick accepted the loss with the philosophy of a man who expected murder and got off with micro assault.

with minor assault.

"Royals should be ashamed of themselves," he said.

"We were ripe for a 50-0 whipping. We only had six backfielders. Chuck Weeks, our second quarterback, had to play left half. Don Hendry, one of our fullbacks had to play right half. Hendry and Chuck Bishop, our other fullback, and I were hurt but there were no bodies left so, we played it. our."

A Little Assault Beats Murder

"Hell, we were only behind 14-7 until the last minute when they scored their third touchdown."

What had held Drakes up?
"Team spirit and individual pride,' he said. "I'm not too worried about our club. When we get Higgs, Ash, Porter and Wilson back we're going to bother somebody."

Higgs is Ken Higgs, probably the best fullback not playing professional football in Canada. He's on holidays.

Pete Ash and Jim Wilson are walking wounded. When their legs are not encased in bandages they're two handy halfbacks. So is Gerry Porter, sea-stuck with Her Majesty's bathtub brigade.

A realist, Patrick harbors no illusions as to the outcome. "Ramblers are good. Very good. But we always seem to get up for them. It will be a football game, I'll tell you."

The Flea Among the Mastodons

Football has always been Jack Patrick's game. A iser of 140 pounds, he quarterbacked Vancouver's King Edward High School when they were the whipping cream atop the high school pie.

Some nights he simply swapped his KE suit for a Blue Bomber sweater when that team was raising havor with the opposition. Junior or prep, the football they played was no patsy stuff. Rod Pantages, Pete Thodos, Jim Michener, Ced Gyles and Don Lord were contemporaries who later made it with the pros.

If football is the game Drakes and Ramblers will play Saturday, football was hardly the game Drakes and Navy played at Royal Athletic Park three years ago. Navy led Drakes by a touchdown at half-time on a misty

"When we came out for the second half," Patrick re when we came out for the second half." Patrick re-calls, "the field was socked in! Fog. You couldn't see 10 feet ahead and it was getting worse. I wanted to call the game. The referee wouldn't unless the officials told him to. They didn't want to unless the Navy coach agreed. Padre Edwards, their coach, a fine fellow by the way, didn't want to stop. His club was leading.

'Have I the Ball? What Ball?'

"I can't find them," he said.
"Every time we had the ball. I noticed that our goal posts seemed right at our backs. Even when we picked up 15-20 yards on a play, those goal posts stayed with us. I found out later that some Navy supporters had come down on the field, picked up the posts and were moving them."

Patrick shook his head. "The real payoff came near the end of the third quarter. We kicked and one of our ends, Tiliman Briggs started down the field. I saw him slow down

"Finally he came up to a Navy man and asked: 'Have you got the ball?"
"No," came the reply. 'Has he kicked it yet?"

Even with bucket seats it's not quite a sports car... It kind of feels like one, though! That's what was said after Consul 315's European introduction. Now it's arrived here acclaimed as "the sports car furned family sedan." We didn't plan it that way. Those hip-hugging bucket seats just seemed to be comfortable. We wanted a smooth 4-speed box too. This one's like a hot knife through butter! Then there's disc brakes. Usually found only on sports cars and high/priced luxury automobiles, they're on '315' for one reason. Safety! And '315' delivers power with economy.

Speedway acceleration from a 56 hp. short-stroke engine that needs gas about as often as a camel needs water... and goes

5,000 miles between oil changes! Unlike a sports car (and many family size cars) Consul 315 is downright extravagant about luggage space—swallows 21 cubic feet of anything. As for style from sparkling grille to saucy raked-back roof '315' is every inch a low cost, high fashion family car ...

Be Really on Your Toes In These Ballet Clothes By PENNY SAVER

For those who aspire to be ballet dancers, there is a shop in town that will at least provide the proper outfit, so that you feel like a prima ballerina even if, like Penny, you'd look better as a stage prop.

Beginning with the tips of your toes, there are soft hallet stoppers in back and white leather, narrow, medium and wide widths, all sizes from children's size 8 to adults size 9, for $4.45 a pair.

There is also a "modern' ballet shoe, excellent for folk 34.45 a pair.

There is also a "modern" ballet shoe, excellent for folk dancing and Scottish dancing, at the same price.

The dancer ready for her first pair of pointe shoes (shoes with a blocked toe), will find this store has a new stock, English-made, in the usual pink satin, at $5.50 a pair.

Packages of tord-backed satin ribbon in pink, white and black are available for only 35 cents a set.

A dancer's legs work better when covered with tights to keep the muscles warm and supple. After this encyclopedic bit of information, we note that this store has black non-run nylon stretch tights, children's $3.50 and adults' $3.95. In pink, children's are $3.95, adults', $4.50. Black fish net tights for the cigarette-girl look sell at

A neat leotard for a finishing touch can be obtained in a stretchy cotton waffle knit, size 4 to adult size 20, with short sleeves and round neck for only $2.95 in small sizes, $3.50 in larger sizes. Only color is black.

Stretchy nylon leotards in black, with round neck and three-quarter sleeves, imported from the United States, are priced at $6.50 for children, $7.95 for adults.

DIOR'S STYLES CRISP AS FALL

LONDON (CP) — Christian Dior's Landon house led off the winter fashion parade We'ines-day with a collection as crisp and bracing as the first tang of fall in the zir that accom-panied it.

It is probably the most dis-tinctive show seen in London this year. Everything in it is stamped Dior 1961.

But the 1920s flapper line of spring and summer has left three legacies behind—short skirts, an affection for bead and fringe trims and an impu-dent, devil may care gaiety. It is basically a look for young and slender, executed in fine tweeds, wool crepes, and evening fabrics of a subdued richness like old-gold brocade.

Sweden Told Why Labor Backed NDP

Donald MacDonald, secretary treasurer of the Canadian Labor Congress, said here Tuesday night that the economic situation in Canada was ore of the main reasons for the form ation of the New Democratic Party.

Party,
MacDonald told the Swedish Trade Union Congress that economic fluctuations in Can establishment of the party.

Advancing conservatism had taken expression in anti-trade union legislation both in the United States and Canada in recent years and this had increased the determination of CLC members to preserve the fundamental and traditional rights and freedoms.

Oil Rights

Lawsuit

Asked

The Canadian trade union movement had consistently opposed all types of legislation which could lead to any curtailing of these rights and freedoms, but it had become clear that trade union economic action in itself could not prevent violations. For this reason a new political party was required.

Minister Dinsdale said Wednesday night he believes jurisdictional disputes such as the decident disputes such as the decident of the petween the federal and British Columbia governments over offshore oil rights are best settled in gourt.

The federal government has long claimed the right to control offshofe petroleum resources. It has given a permit to Shell Oil covering 11,000,000

Civic elections can be rigged in any B.C. muni-cipality unless the Municipal Act is changed, Ald. Michael Griffin said Wednesday.

The articulate freshman councillor said he will try to put a corrective resolution before the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention later this

"Under the present act, he said, 1,000 persons in or outside Victoria, for instance, could put up $1 each for a fund to buy some city property and all could be registered as owners and given a vote at civic elections.

"One thousand votes could swing almost any city election," he said. "They would each vote on the same level as a man who might own $1,000,000 worth of property.

"This is a very dangerous oversight in the Municipal Act and it should be corrected."

Ald. Griffin said his resolution would limit ballots to one vote for every property and in cases involving money bylaws there should be one vote for each $100,000 assessment or part thereof.
